EPISTLE

To the Right Honourable Give rough Cool, the Mad, the Vain, the Evil,

Boundally common Richesia

ALLEN Lord BATHURST.

HO shall decide, when Doctors disagree, And foundest Casuists doubt, like you and me? annaw samul salvi

Tis cimeave car che bread another fows:

You hold the Word from Jove to Momus giv'n, That Man was made the standing Jest of Heav'n, And Gold but fent to keep the Fools in play, For half to heap, and half to throw away.

But

But I, who think more highly of our Kind,
(And surely Heav'n and I are of a mind)
Opine, that Nature, as in duty bound,
Deep hid the shining Mischief under ground:
But when, by Man's audacious Labor won,
Flam'd forth this Rival to its Sire the Sun,
'Then, in plain prose, were made two sorts of Men,
To squander some, and some to hide agen.

Like Doctors thus, when much Dispute has past,
We find our Tenets just the same at last:
Both fairly owning Riches in essect
No Grace of Heav'n, or Token of th' Elect;
Giv'n to the Fool, the Mad, the Vain, the Evil,
To W_rd, to W_t_rs, Ch_rs, and the Devil:

What Nature wants, commodious Gold bestows,
'Tis thus we eat the bread another sows:
But how unequalit bestows, observe,
'Tis thus we riot, while who sow it, starve.
What Nature wants (a phrase I much distrust)
Extends to Luxury, extends to Lust;
And if we count among the Needs of life
Another's Toil, why not another's Wife?

Useful,

Useful, we grant, it serves what life requires,
But dreadful too, the dark Assassin hires:
Trade it may help, Society extend;
But lures the Pyrate, and corrupts the Friend:
It raises Armies in a nation's aid,
But bribes a Senate, and the Land's betray'd.

Oh! that fuch Bulky bribes as all might fee
Still, as of old, encumber'd Villainy!
In vain may Heroes fight, and Patriots rave,
If fecret Gold faps on from knave to knave.
Could France or Rome divert our brave defigns,
With all their brandies, or with all their wines?
What could they more than knights and squires conOr water all the Quorum ten miles round?

[found,
A statesman's slumbers how this speech would spoil,

- " Sir, Spain has sent a thousand jars of oyl;
- " Huge bales of British cloth blockade the Door;
- " A hundred Oxen at your levee roar.

Poor Avarice one torment more would find, Nor could Profusion squander all, in kind. Aftride his Cheese Sir Morgan might we meet, And Worldly crying Coals from street to fireet,

Whom

Whom with a Wig so wild, and Mien so maz'd,
Pity mistakes for some poor Tradesman craz'd.
Had H—wl—y's fortune lain in Hopsand Hogs,
Scarce H—wl—y's self had sent it to the dogs.
His Grace will game: to White's a Bull be led,
With spurning heels and with a butting head;
To White's be carry'd, as to ancient Games,
Fair Coursers, Vases, and alluring Dames.
Shall then Uxorio, if the stakes he sweep,
Bear home six Whores, and make his Lady weep?
Or soft Adonis, so persum'd and sine,
Drive to St. James's a whole herd of Swine?
Oh filthy Check on all industrious skill,
To spoil the Nation's last great Trade, Quadrille!

Once, we confess, beneath the Patriot's cloak, From the crack'd bagg the dropping Guinea spoke, And gingling down the back-stairs, told the Crew, "Old Cato is as great a Rogue as you." Blest Paper-credit! that advanc'd so high, Shall lend Corruption lighter wings to sty!

* Beneath the Patriot's Cloak.] This is a true Story, which happen'd in the Reign of King William, to an eminent unfuspected old Patriot; who coming out at the Back-door from having been closeted by the King, where he had received a large Bag of Guineas, the Bursting of the Bag discover'd his Business there.

Gold, imp'd with this, may compass hardest things,
May pocket States, or setch or carry Kings;
A single Leaf may wast an Army o'er,
Or ship off Senates to some distant shore;
A Leaf like Sybil's, scatter to and fro
Our Fates and Fortunes, as the winds shall blow.

Well then, fince with the world we stand or fall, Come take it as we find it, Gold and all.

What Riches give us, let us first enquire:

Meat, fire, and cloaths; what more? Meat, cloaths, and
Is this too little? wou'd you more than live? [fire.

Alas'tis more than Tu r finds they give.

Alas'tis more than (all his Visions past.)

Yet, to be just to these poor Men of Pelf, Each does but hate his Neighbour as himfelf: Damn'd to the Mines, an equal Fate betides The Slave that digs it, and the Slave that hides. Who fuffer thus, meer Charity should own Must act on Reasons pow'rful tho' unknown: Some War, some Plague, some Famine they foresee, Some Revelation, hid from you and me. The Crown of Poland venal twice an Age
To just three Millions stinted modest —.
But nobler Scenes Maria's Dreams unfold,
Hereditary Realms, and Worlds of Gold.
Congenial Souls! whose Life one Avirice joins,
And one Fate buries in th' * Asturian Mines.

Much injur'd Bl_t! why bears he Britain's hate?

A Wizard told him in these words our fate.

- "At length Corruption, like a gen'ral Flood,
- " (So long by watchful Ministers withstood)
- "Shall deluge all, and Avirice creeping on,
- " Spread like a low-born Mist, and blot the Sun;
- Statesman and Patriot ply alike the Stocks,
- " Peeress and Butler share alike the Box,
- " The Judge shall job, the Bishop bite the Town,
- " And mighty Dukes pack Cards for half a crown.
- " See Britain funk in Lucre's fordid charms,
- "And France reveng'd of Anne's and Edward's Arms!

 No poor Court-Badge, great Scriv'ner! fir'd thy brain,

 No Lordly Luxury, no City Gain:
- Two persons of distinction, each of whom in the time of the Mississippi despised to realize above three hundred thousand pound; the Gentleman with a view to the Crown of Poland, the Lady on a Vision of the like nature. They since retir'd together into Spain, where they are still in search of Gold in the Mines of the Asturies.

But

[9]

But 'twas thy righteous End, asham'd to see Senates degen'rate, Patriots disagree, And nobly wishing Party Rage to cease, To buy both Sides, and give thy Country Peace.

"All this is madness, cries a sober Sage,
But who, my Friend, has Reason in his Rage?
The ruling Passion, be it what it will,
The ruling Passion conquers Reason still.
Less mad the wildest Whimsey we can frame,
Than ev'n that Passion, it it has no Aim;
For the such Motives Folly you may call,
The Folly's greater to have none at all.

Hear then the truth: 'Tis Heav'n each Passion sends,
And diff'rent Men directs to diff'rent Ends.

"Extremes in Nature equal Good produce,
"Extremes in Man concur to general Use.
Ask we what makes one keep, and one bestow?
That Pow'r who bids the Ocean ebb and slow;
Bids Seed-time, Harvest, equal course maintain,
Thro'reconcil'd Extremes of Drought and Rain;
Builds Life on Death; on Change Duration sounds,
And gives th' eternal Wheels to know their rounds.

Riches,

Riches, like Insects, when conceal'd they lie,
Wait but for Wings, and in their Season, sty.
Who sees pale Mammon pine amidst his Store,
Sees but a backward Steward for the Poor;
This Year a Reservoir, to keep and spare,
The next, a Fountain spouting thro' his Heir,
In lavish Streams to quench a Country's thirst,
And Men, and Dogs, shall drink him till they burst.

Old Cotta sham'd his fortune, and his birth,
Yet was not Cottavoid of wit or worth:
What tho' (the use of barb'rous Spits forgot)
His Kitchen vy'd in coolness with his Grot;
His Court with Nettles, Moat with Cresses stor'd,
With Soups unbought, and Sallads, bless his board.
If Cotta liv'd on Pulse, it was no more
Than Bramins, Saints, and Sages did before;
To cram the Rich, was prodigal expence,
And who would take the Poor from Providence?
Like some lone Chartreuse stands the good old Hall,
Silence without, and Fasts within the wall;
No rafter'd Roofs with Dance and Tabor sound,
No Noontide-bell invites the Country round;

Tenants

[11]

Tenants with fighs the smookless Tow'rs survey,
And turn th' unwilling Steeds another way,
Benighted wanderers, the Forest o'er,
Curse the sav'd Candle, and unopening Door:
While the gaunt Mastiff, growling at the Gate,
Affrights the Beggar whom he longs to eat.

Not so his Son, he mark'd this oversight, And then mistook reverse of wrong for right: For what to shun will no great knowledge need, But what to follow is a task indeed. What flaughter'd Hecatombs, what floods of wine, Fill the capacious Squire and deep Divine! Yet no mean motive this profusion draws, His Oxen perish in his Country's cause. 'Tis the dear Prince (Sir John) that crowns thy cup, And Zeal for his great House that eats thee up. The woods recede around the naked feat, The fylvans groan ___ no matter __ " for the Fleet." Next goes his wool - " to clothe our valiant bands:" Last, for his country's love, he sells his lands. Bankrupt, at Court in vain he pleads his cause, His thankless Country leaves him to her Laws.

The

[12]

The Sense to value Riches, with the Art
T'enjoy them, and the Virtue to impart,
Not meanly, nor ambitiously persu'd,
Not sunk by sloth, nor rais'd by servitude;
To balance Fortune by a just expence,
Joyn with Oeconomy, Magnificence;
With Splendor Charity, with Plenty Health;
Oh teach us, BATHURST, yet unspoil'd by wealth!
That secret rare, between th' extremes to move
Of mad Good-nature, and of mean Self-love.

To want or worth, well-weigh'd, be bounty given, And ease, or emulate, the care of Heaven.

Whose measure full, o'erslows on human race, Mends Fortune's fault, and justifies her grace.

Wealth in the gross is Death, but Life diffus'd; As Poyson heals, in just proportion us'd:

In heaps, like Ambergrise, a stink it lies,

But well dispers'd, is Incense to the skies.

Who starves by Nobles, or with Nobles eats?

The wretch that trusts them, and the rogue that cheats.

Is there a Lord, who knows a chearful noon

Without a Fidler, Flatt'rer, or Bussion?

Whofe

Whose Table, Wit, or modest Merit share, Un-elbow'd by a Gamester, Pimp, or Play'r? Who copies Yours or Oxford's better part, To ease th' oppress'd, and raise the finking heart? Wher-e'er he shines, oh Fortune gild the scene, And Angels guard him in the golden Mean! There English Bounty yet a while may stand, And Honor linger, e're it leaves the Land.

But all our praifes why should Lords engross?
Rise honest Muse! and sing the Man of Ross:
Pleas'd Vaga ecchoes thro' her winding bounds,
And rapid Severn hoarse applause resounds.
Who hung with woods you mountains sultry brow?
From the dry rock who bade the waters slow?
Not to the skies in useless columns tost,
Or in proud falls magnificently lost,
But clear and artless, pouring thro' the plain
Health to the sick, and solace to the swain.
Whose Cause-way parts the vale with shady rows?
Whose Seats the weary Traveller repose?
Who feeds you Alms-house, neat, but void of state,
Where Age and Want sit smiling at the gate?

His Grace's fate fage Cutler could foresee,
And well (he thought) advis'd him, "Live like me."
As well his Grace reply'd, "Like you, Sir John?
"That I can do, when all I have is gone."
Resolve me Reason, which of these is worse?
Want with a full, or with an empty purse:
Thy Life more wretched, Cutler, was confess'd;
Arise, and tell me, was thy Death more bless'd?

A few grey hairs his rev'rend temples crown'd. 'Twas very want that fold them for two pound. What ev'n deny'd a cordial at his end, Banish'd the Doctor, and expell'd the friend? What but a want, which you perhaps think mad, Yet numbers feel; the want of what he had. Cutler and Brutus, dying both exclaim, " Virtue! and Wealth! what are ye but a Name?"

Say, for such worth are other worlds prepar'd? Or are they both, in this, their own reward? That knotty point, my Lord, shall I discuss, Or tell a Tale ?- A Tale it follows thus.

Where * London's Column pointing at the skies Like a tall Bully, lifts the head, and lyes: There dwelt a Citizen of lober fame, A plain good man, and Balaam was his name. Religious, punctual, frugal, and so forth-His word would pass for more than he was worth. One folid dish his week-day meal affords, An added pudding solemniz'd the Lord's,

* The Monument built in Memory of the Fire of London, with an Inscription importing that City to have been burn'd by the Papists.

His givings rare, fave farthings to the poor.

The Dev'l was piqu'd, fuch faintship to behold,
And long'd to tempt him like good Job of old:
But Satan now is wifer than of yore,
And tempts by making rich, not making poor.

Rouz'd by the Prince of Air, the whirlwinds fweep The furge, and plunge his Father in the deep; Then full against his Cornish lands they roar, And two rich Ship-wrecks bless the lucky shore.

Sir Balaam now, he lives like other folks,
He takes his chirping pint, he cracks his jokes:
"Live like your felf," was foon my Lady's word;
And lo! two puddings fmok'd upon the board,

Asserband naked as an Indian lay,
An honest Factor stole a Gem away:
He pledg'd it to the Knight; the Knight had wit,
Sokeptthe Diamond, and the Rogue was bit:
Some Scruple rose, but thus he eas'd his thought,

- " I'll now give fix-pence where I gave a groat,
- " Where once I went to church, I'll now go twice,
- " And am so clear too, of all other Vice."

The

The Tempter saw his time; the work he ply'd, Stocks and Subscriptions pour on ev'ry side; And all the Dæmon makes his full descent, In one abundant Show'r of Cent. per Cent. Sinks deep within him and possesses whole, Then dubs Director and secures his Soul.

Behold Sir Balaam now a man of spirit,

Ascribes his gettings to his parts and merit,

What late he call'd a Blessing, now was Wit,

And God's good providence, a lucky Hit.

Things change their titles as our manners turn,

His Compting-house imploy'd the Sunday-morn;
